

Citations – printed materials pulled by Amazon

1. Removal of the cover artwork of the book Boba Fett – A New Threat, by Patrick Saurial. Noted in a “Book News” posting on the website for Cinescape Books on February 12, 2004. Available at <http://www.mania.com/40810.html>.
2. Removal of the book A Piece of Blue Sky, by Jon Atack, a controversial book implicating David Trimble of the Ulster unionist Party in atrocities against Catholics. Noted in several publications in July 1999, including Wired Magazine. Available at <http://www.wired.com/wired/archive/7.09/mustread.html?pg=4>
3. Removal of the links to the website www.Websitcity.com that featured the autopsy photos of Dale Earnhardt and two other NASCAR drivers. Noted in the “News” section of for MediaLife Magazine’s website on April 2, 2005. Available at http://www.medialifemagazine.com/news2001/apr01/apr02/5_fri/news8friday.html.
4. Removal of the book House of Bush, House of Saud, by Craig Unger. Noted in the July 30, 2004 article Amazon will not Handle Book on Bush-Saudi Links, by Steven Morris, published in the Guardian. Available at <http://books.guardian.co.uk/print/0,,4982214-99819,00.html>
5. Removal of the cover artwork of a book showing a plane flying through the top of a building in October 2001. Noted in several publications, including the October 29, 2001 article Amazon Removes Startling Book Jacket, by Susan Stellin, available at <http://select.nytimes.com/gst/abstract.html?res=F30D13FF3D540C7A8EDDA90994D9404482>, and in the Repercussions section of the MIT Comparative Media Studies publication Reconstructions, available at <http://web.mit.edu/cms/reconstructions/repercussions/chillingeffect.html>